

Credit Card Terms

What you must read

These terms

These terms help you to understand your credit card. They describe what you can and can't do and what we'll do. They form part of our legal agreement with you and are relevant to any cardholder.

1. Your full agreement

A. These terms should be read together with

- The Credit Card Features Schedule: sets out your credit card benefits
- Our Fees and Charges Schedule: sets out our fees, charges and interest rates
- Your Rewards Programme Schedule: explains how you can earn and use points
- Our Data Privacy Policy: explains how we collect, store, use and share data. You can find this on our website

Together with these terms, they form your credit card agreement with us.

Note that our services don't include legal, tax or estate planning advice. You're responsible for meeting your tax responsibilities (filing tax returns, paying tax, etc.).

2. Your statements

As an account holder, read your latest credit card statement for the most up-to-date credit card and account information, including a list of transactions for all cardholders during the statement period.

A. How to use your statement

Use your statement to check

- how many Reward points you have earned or redeemed
- your credit limit
- the total account balance
- the minimum payment due
- a list of transactions for all cardholders
- fees, charges and interest charged, and
- if there are any errors or unauthorised transactions.

B. If you see something wrong

Tell us straight away if you see any errors or unauthorised transactions on your statement or if you do not receive a statement that you are expecting to receive.

If you don't tell us within 14 days of the statement date, we may not be able to take any action.

C. When we send alerts

We'll only send you an alert, either by email, SMS, push notifications on the HSBC mobile banking app, and/or such other means that we may specify from time to time, each time a transaction exceeds a pre-determined amount.

If you've opted to receive transaction alerts from us by email or SMS, you'll give us a complete and accurate mobile phone number or electronic mail address. The delivery of transaction alerts by SMS is subject to the terms and services of your telecommunications service provider.

We recommend turning on push notifications on the HSBC mobile banking app so that you may receive transaction alerts via push notifications.

Read each alert carefully and tell us if anything is wrong.

Let us know if you wish to change the transaction amount that prompts each alert.

3. Change notifications

From time to time we may let you know of changes – read these because they may impact you.

A. We can change these terms

We live in a rapidly changing world. Sometimes this means we need to update these terms. These updates include amendments to:

- fees and charges;
- interest rates;
- interest rate calculation methodology;
- minimum payment amount;
- basis of calculation of minimum payment amount; and
- your credit card benefits and features.

We may amend or supplement these terms, if it is reasonably necessary to:

- reflect changes to our operational costs, business operations or systems and processes, or our arrangements with third parties;
- give effect to:
 - applicable law, rule, regulation;
 - a change, recommendation, order, requirement, notice, direction, code, circular or guidance issued by any regulatory, supervisory, governmental, statutory authority, stock exchange, self-regulatory, or resolution body having jurisdiction over us or a court of competent jurisdiction;
- reflect changes to industry or market conditions or practice;
- align with standards or expectations including in respect of:
 - banking and financial services practices;
 - environmental, social and governance practices;
 - consumer and investor protection practices;
 - cyber, digital, technology (including financial technology (FinTech)) practices e.g., those relating to crypto-assets, digital assets, virtual assets, asset tokenisation and artificial intelligence (including generative artificial intelligence and machine learning);
 - operational resilience and data management practices; or
 - taxation and transfer pricing practices; or
- otherwise protect our legitimate interests.

To the extent reasonably practicable, we'll give you reasonable notice of any changes to these terms before such terms take effect.

We can choose how to give this notice to you. This may include:

- contacting you directly (through mail, email, post or via mobile);
- placing signs or notices at our branches;
- publishing the change on our website; and/or
- using any other method we think is reasonably appropriate.

If you don't agree with a change, you can cancel your existing credit card, after paying all amounts you may owe us.

B. Changes to your credit limit

Ask us if you wish to increase your credit limit and we'll let you know our decision. In some cases, we may reduce your credit limit without telling you first.

C. Delay in exercising our rights

Sometimes we may not enforce our rights (such as charging a fee). If we choose so, we may still do it later.

D. We can transfer our rights and obligations

We'll only transfer our rights and obligations under these terms within the HSBC group or to someone we think is able to perform our obligations towards you as well as we would. We'll tell you if this happens.

How to manage your account

This section describes what you, the account holder can do.

4. What you can do

As an account holder, you have full responsibility for your account and all credit cards issued under your account.

A. You can ask us to

- add supplementary cardholders
- permanently increase or decrease your credit limit or
- provide a temporary increase of your credit limit.

We'll let you know of our decision.

You can also ask us to

- remove supplementary cardholders or
- close your account.

Allow us some time to process it.

B. You can also

- access all credit card activities, including those of supplementary cardholders
- make transfers to reduce or repay what you owe to another lender or
- redeem any of the reward points earned using your credit card as well as any earned by your supplementary cardholders, if any.

5. How you can manage cardholders

You can ask us to add or remove supplementary cardholders.

A. Adding cardholders

If we approve a supplementary cardholder

- we'll issue a separate credit card linked to your account
- you and the supplementary cardholder will be responsible for repaying the supplementary cardholder's credit card debt
- you'll be able to check their transactions on your statement.

Tell your supplementary cardholders to keep their credit card and security details safe – these are personalised information a supplementary cardholder has given us to confirm their identity or which are unique to them - and to contact both us and you, as the account holder, straight away if their credit card is lost or stolen.

B. What supplementary cardholders can do

Supplementary cardholders can only use their credit card to make transactions, including purchase goods and services and cash advances.

Supplementary cardholders can't make any balance transfer nor close your credit card account, add or remove other cardholders or apply for additional credit. These actions can only be performed by you, as the account holder.

C. Removing cardholders

If you ask us to remove a supplementary cardholder and cancel their credit card, we'll do this as soon as we can.

6. How you can change your credit limit

The credit limit is the total amount we agree to lend you. Your credit limit is shared among all cardholders.

A. How to change your credit limit

You can ask us at any time to

- consider increasing your credit limit
- lower your credit limit, or
- provide a temporary increase of your credit limit. We'll let you know of our decision.

How to use your credit card

Cardholders should only make transactions using their own credit card.

7. How to make transactions

A. Receiving your credit card

We'll send your credit card once your application is approved. Tell us if you do not receive your credit card within a reasonable time.

B. Transactions you can use your credit card for

You can use your credit card for any personal reasons and to

- purchase goods and services or
- make cash withdrawals, cash advances, balance transfers and cash instalment plans – different charges apply.

Only the account holder can transfer funds to reduce or repay an amount they owe to another lender.

C. When you authorise a transaction

A transaction has been authorised by you

- when a credit card linked to your account is used to make a purchase
- using a contactless device or
- where your credit card information and security details are used together – security details are personalised information used to confirm your identity or which are personal to you (such as the security code on your card, passwords, PINs, one-time password (OTP), signatures or biometric data)
- withdraw cash from an ATM, when linked to a deposit account
- make a cash advance.

D. Be aware there may be transaction limits

Limits on transactions – such as how much you can spend on a purchase or how many transactions you can make within a set time – may be set by us or different merchants depending on the mode of payment (e.g. physical card or mobile payment device).

E. How we confirm who's giving us instructions

We'll act on instructions that we reasonably believe to come from you or the supplementary cardholder. We can always ask more questions to confirm the identity or authority of the person giving us instructions. If we're not satisfied with the answers, we may delay or refuse instructions. We do this to keep your account and data safe, so we won't be responsible for losses these security measures may cause.

8. Making transactions in other currencies

Each cardholder can use their credit card to make transactions in currencies different from your credit card account.

A. When we can't process a currency transaction

Restrictions on transactions may stop us from completing a transaction.

B. How to use your credit card overseas

The magnetic strip of your credit card is not activated for overseas use, but you can still make transactions with your credit card using other modes of payment.

Call us if you wish to activate the magnetic strip and allow some time for us to do it.

9. How to stop or change a bill payment

You can only stop or change future recurring bill payments. Do this by contacting the merchant or the billing organisation directly. We'll continue to pay them until they cancel the payments.

You can't stop, delay or change any other kind of transaction.

10. When we process transactions

We process transactions during the working week – Monday to Saturday. If you make a transaction on a Sunday or public holiday we'll process it the next working day.

11. Why your credit card is replaced

We may replace your credit card for different reasons, including when it expires or when you've reported the credit card as lost or stolen or when your security details have been compromised

A. If we replace or issue a new credit card

You'll need to

- activate your new credit card – after you do so, you will not be able to use your old credit card, and
- update your payment details for any recurring payments you've set up using your old credit card or they won't be paid.

B. When we issue a different credit card

If you no longer meet the conditions for your credit card or we no longer offer the type of credit card you have we may offer you a different one. It may have different interest rates, charges and fees – we'll tell you at the time what the new interest rates and fees are.

If you don't want the new type of credit card, you can close your account.

12. Cancelling transactions made to your account

A. When we cancel transactions

We can cancel a transaction made to your account if we believe that the transaction was made as a result of fraud or mistake.

B. When you have a disagreement with a merchant

If you have a disagreement with a merchant, you must take it up directly with them. If they agree to refund you, we'll credit the refund as soon as we receive it.

We'll charge fees, charges and interest for the disputed transaction until the amount is paid for or refunded.

Lost, stolen or misused credit cards

You must take all reasonable steps to protect your credit card and account. Take a look at our website where you'll find more information on how to do this.

13. Protecting your credit card and account

You'll need to take all reasonable care and precaution to:

- enable transaction alerts on any device you use to receive these alerts
- receive all transaction alerts for all outgoing transactions, the activation of your digital security token, and the conduct of any high-risk activity made from your account (including disabling transaction notifications that we will send upon completion of a payment transaction; and changing your contact information including your mobile phone number, electronic mail address and mailing address)
- monitor alerts sent to you, including verifying that the stated recipient or activity is intended before you complete any transaction or high-risk activity
- read any risk warning messages sent by us before you proceed with any high-risk activity. If you do not understand the risks and implications of such activity, you should visit our website for more information or contact us prior to performing the activity. When you proceed with a high-risk activity, we'll consider you've understood the risk and implications of doing so
- ensure you and your supplementary cardholders don't disclose your security details to anyone else. This includes failing to keep your security details secure from others who may misuse it
- ensure any record of your security details can't be easily found by others, and is kept in a secure location only you can access, and
- comply with your duties under any applicable guidelines, regulations or directions issued by any judicial, government or regulatory authority or body that relate to the protection of your credit card and account, including the E-Payments User Protection Guidelines published by the Monetary Authority of Singapore (MAS).

You'll need to keep your security details in a:

- secure electronic or physical location that only you can access, and
- place where the record is unlikely to be found by anyone else. Tell us straight away if you think your security details are no longer safe or have been used by someone else.

14. When your credit card is lost, stolen or misused

A. What you must do

If your credit card is lost, stolen or misused, you notice any unauthorised transactions or activities, or your account, data or security details are no longer safe

- you must tell us straight away or once you receive the transaction alert that doesn't sound right. If you're unable to tell us straight away, we may ask you about the reasons for your delay. If there is any unauthorised activity on your account, you should tell us as soon as practicable, and no later than 30 calendar days after receiving the transaction alert for such activity, in order to facilitate our claims investigation process
- you should activate the emergency self-service block card feature to block further access to your account as soon as practicable after you are notified of any unauthorised activities and you have reason to believe that your account has been compromised, or if you are unable to contact us. You can activate this feature through the ways listed on our website
- you must provide any information we ask for within a reasonable amount of time to support our investigations – we may not be able to help you if you don't

- you must make a police report as soon as practicable if advised by us to do so or if you suspect that you are a victim of fraud. If we request for a police report, you should provide it within 3 calendar days of our request, and
- we may need to share this information with the relevant law enforcement agencies or regulators.

We'll get back to you as soon as we can.

If you find your lost credit card later please destroy it as a security measure.

B. If you don't do this

You'll only be responsible for up to SGD100 for any unauthorised transactions that are charged to your account if

- you report to us straight away that your credit card is lost or stolen or in the case of any unauthorised or erroneous transaction, you report it to us as soon as practicable, and no later than 30 calendar days after you receive the relevant transaction alert, and
- you or a supplementary cardholder have not acted carelessly or fraudulently.

If we discover otherwise after we've already refunded you, we may reverse it.

Payments

You must make regular payments on your credit card debt.

15. What you owe

What you owe is made up of:

- what you owe for goods, services and cash withdrawals (including balance transfers and cash instalment plans);
- any interest; and
- any fees

Our Fees and Charges Schedule show our fees, charges and interest rates for all our different credit cards. You can also find the interest rates that apply to you on your statements.

Your statements or any document issued by us stating that an amount is due from you in respect of your account will be conclusive evidence of what you owe, unless proven incorrect.

A. How we calculate your interest

We charge interest from the date each transaction or charge is added to your account until the amount is paid off by the due date. It is calculated as follows:

- The amount you owe us multiplied by
- the interest rate of your credit card multiplied by
- the number of days it takes you to make the full payment

16. Your payments

A. You must repay the minimum payment amount

Your latest statement shows what your minimum payment amount is and when to repay it. Your minimum payment amount will be:

- 100% of the monthly instalment amount for each of your cash instalment plans and spend instalment plans, if any; plus
- 100% of any interest, late fees, annual credit card fees and overlimit fees charged to your account*; plus
- 1% of your remaining outstanding balance (i.e. your total outstanding balance less the amounts set out under the previous two bullet points)*; plus

- the excess amount above your credit limit, if your account is overlimit,

*The total amount under the 2nd and 3rd bullet points is subject to a minimum of $50 (in the currency of your account).

Overlimit means the balance amount in excess of the combined credit limit, and is payable immediately in addition to the minimum payment due for the month.

However, if your total outstanding balance is less than $50 (in the currency of your account), your minimum payment amount shall be your total outstanding balance.

If you pay at least the minimum payment amount each month you'll pay off all the interest added to your account that month, but we encourage you to pay the full balance. If you don't make the minimum payment, the interest will be added to your total outstanding balance and we'll charge interest on it. In addition, you will be subject to a late fee and we may reduce your credit limit.

B. How to pay less interest

We don't charge interest if you repay the full amount you owe us by the due date mentioned in your statement.

C. If you pay more than what you owe us

If you transfer more money than you owe into your account it'll be in credit. This credit amount won't earn any interest and will be used to pay for any transactions, fees, charges or interest until it is fully used.

17. How we apply your payments

We'll apply your payments to the amount you owe in this order

- 1 instalments for each of your cash instalment plans and spend instalment plans, if any
- 2 interest charges
- 3 late fees
- 4 annual credit card fees
- 5 overlimit fees
- 6 service charges (e.g. cash advance fees)
- 7 transactions charged to your account

We also apply payments to categories of balance from the highest interest rate to lowest interest rate after clearing the minimum payment. If the interest is the same, we'll start applying it to the oldest amounts first.

18. When you don't pay

A. What happens if you miss a payment

If you miss a payment.

- We may suspend your credit card and account and if we do, you and any supplementary cardholder won't be able to access the account and we won't act on any transaction instructions
- We may deduct the amount you owe from any other HSBC accounts you have here or in another country or territory, including any joint accounts
- It could result in legal action to recover the money you owe us and
- It may be more difficult for you to get credit in the future.

We'll charge you additional fees, charges and interest – check out our Fees and Charges Schedule

B. What happens if you don't pay

If you don't pay after we've given you any reasonable time to pay

- we can demand payment of the total amount you owe
- we may deduct the amount you owe from any balance(s) in other HSBC accounts you hold here or in another country or territory, including any joint accounts
- we may ultimately engage a third party or take legal action against you to recover the amount you owe – and may require you to pay us such legal and other costs in full (i.e. on a full indemnity basis)
- it may be more difficult for you to get credit in the future.

We'll continue to charge you interest and fees during this time until full payment is received.

Other actions we can take

19. We can stop or delay a transaction

A. When we stop or delay transactions

We can stop or delay a transaction if

- the transaction instructions and/or details provided by you, the merchant, the billing organisation and/or the relevant card scheme are incorrect or incomplete
- we reasonably believe that the instructions to process a transaction are not coming from you
- the recipient refuses the transaction
- another party involved in the transaction refuses to act on the instructions
- the transaction exceeds your credit limit
- we reasonably suspect there could be fraudulent, illegal, unauthorised or criminal activities
- we reasonably believe that if we don't it could put us in a position where we may not be following a law, regulation, code, court order or other duty, requirement or obligation
- we reasonably believe that if we don't it could expose us, or another HSBC group member, to action or censure from any government, regulator or law enforcement agency
- we believe that it's important as part of our fight against financial crime.

We are not responsible for any losses stopping or delaying a transaction may cause, if we act reasonably.

20. We can suspend your credit card

A. When we suspend your credit card

We can but shall not be obliged to suspend your credit card straight away and without telling you first if

- you haven't repaid what you owe
- we have requested information from you, but you haven't given it to us within a reasonable time
- you gave us any incorrect or misleading information
- we have concerns about your account's security (such as a suspected misuse of your security details)
- we reasonably suspect there could be fraudulent, illegal, unauthorised or criminal activities
- we reasonably believe that if we don't it could put us in a position where we may not be following a law, regulation, code, court order or other duty, requirement or obligation
- we reasonably believe that if we don't it could expose us, or another HSBC group member, to action or censure from any government, regulator or law enforcement agency
- we believe that it's important as part of our fight against financial crime.

If we suspend your credit card for any other reason we'll tell you 30 days in advance.

B. What happens if we do

If we suspend your credit card

- you won't be able to use it
- we'll continue to charge any fees and interest while the suspension is in place and
- you must continue making payments that are due.

21. We can close the accountA. When we can close your account

We can but shall not be obliged to close your account straight away and without telling you first if

- you gave us any incorrect or misleading information
- we reasonably suspect there could be fraudulent, illegal, unauthorised or criminal activities
- we reasonably believe that if we don't it could put us in a position where we may not be following a law, regulation, code, court order or other duty, requirement or obligation
- we reasonably believe that if we don't it could expose us, or another HSBC group member, to action or censure from any government, regulator or law enforcement agency
- we believe that it's important as part of our fight against financial crime
- you are declared bankrupt or we believe that you may not be able to repay us what you owe.

If we close your account for any other reason we'll tell you 30 days in advance, for e.g., when you don't follow these terms.

B. What happens if we do

If we close your account

- we'll cancel all credit cards linked to it
- all benefits associated with your account will end
- you'll no longer be able to redeem any reward points or receive any benefits linked to your credit card, including any cash rebate
- we may disclose information about you and your account to credit reference agencies
- you'll need to update your payment details for any recurring payments you have set up using your credit card or they won't be paid and
- you must pay us all that you owe us. Our credit card agreement with you will continue until you do and we may take you to court to recover the money if you don't.

We are not responsible for any losses closing the account may cause, if we act reasonably.

C. Jurisdiction and laws that apply

If we ever need a court to settle a dispute between us, the laws of Singapore will apply to the interpretation of these terms and the dispute can be dealt with in the courts of Singapore.
